BASICS # 3

FITTING YOUR SYSTEM TO THE MARKET TYPE

Most trading strategies will work best in only one or two market types.

In this worksheet you will:

- Define the market types your system is best suited for
- Clarify your methodology for identifying the market type
- Collect chart examples for each market type for future reference

A good tool for collecting samples is Trading View, a free online charting service. Trading view allows you to easily mark-up charts. You can then save the chart online and add a link to the chart in this document, rather than having to print and save the chart (of course, you can do that too).

For more information on market types visit the following link:

Which market types will best suit your system?

What indicators will you use to help you identify market types? Completely describe your method here.

Collect at least one examples of each of the primary market types and either add the link in here or keep samples of the charts. If you have the time you can collect 2-3 examples of each.

Include any additional notes on how you might adapt your trading system to changing market types here.
